WORK
THAT MATTERS

Real-world experience. Limitless opportunity.

Work on what you read about, and what you care about.

You'll work on headline-reaching cases, because clients come to us with their most complex problems. Our long-standing commitment to our clients and to pro bono representation means our lawyers have been involved in cases and social developments that have shaped the United States and the world. Examples of our recent work include:

- obtaining victories in four out of the five cases the firm argued before the US Supreme Court during the 2015 term;
- working with large retail companies to respond to many of the most significant cyber breaches in recent history, and handling cybersecurity and privacy issues for more than 100 clients;
- representing issuers and underwriters in nearly 50 public offerings and Rule 144A placements with total proceeds of approximately $20 billion, including 10 initial public offerings; and representing clients in M&A and technology licensing transactions with a dollar value in excess of $20 billion;
- handling securities litigation, criminal and civil enforcement, regulatory, and legislative matters for some of the world's most prominent companies; and
- securing the release of a leading human rights advocate who was sentenced to prison on the charge of propaganda against the Communist Party.

Work with people you like and respect.

Recent summer associates discuss their WilmerHale experience:

"I've received substantive assignments in a number of areas, allowing me to gain a better sense of the type of law I want to practice. The only thing better than the work has been the people."

"Not only were my assigned mentors great, but many other attorneys took it upon themselves to reach out to me on their own and really made the summer terrific."

"All of my assignments were incredibly interesting and all the attorneys were accessible. I came away believing that I would be excited to work on a lot of the firm's matters."

Work at a firm where you can reach your potential.

Superb legal skills are developed through broad work experience, sound formal training and strong mentoring. Through the Career Advancement Program, our lawyers have access to these tools.
